The United Nations Global Initiative to Fight Human Trafficking Vienna Forum to Fight Human Trafficking Report

The United Nations Global Initiative to Fight Human Trafficking (UN.GIFT) was conceived to join forces and coordinate the global fight on human trafficking, on the basis of foremost international agreement reached at the UN. To date, over 110 countries have signed the Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons especially Women and Children, which supplements the Palermo Convention against trans-national organized crime.

During the Vienna Forum to Fight Human Trafficking, held in Vienna from 13 to 15 February 2008, twenty-eight panels, workshops, special sessions and side events were held as part of the Forum with a view to exploring the themes of vulnerability, impact and action and to offering an opportunity for dialogue on preventing and combating trafficking in persons.

As a conclusion to the Forum, a report was written to summarize the discussions, findings and proposed recommendations of each of those sessions and events.

Areas covering vulnerability, impact and action are discussed. They include:

- demand for forced labor and sexual exploitation: how and why it fuels human trafficking
- trafficking in persons for removal of organs and body parts
- the consequences of sexual exploitation, especially for women and children
- the role of the media in building images
- the roles of employers' organizations, businesses and trade unions in combating trafficking for labor exploitation
- Proactive prevention; what works: reducing the risks and providing protection. .

Fellowship and Volunteer Opportunities

National Human Trafficking Resource Center (NHTRC) Fellowship September 12, 2008

The National Human Trafficking Resource Center (NHTRC) is a Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)-funded program operated and implemented by Polaris Project. The NHTRC is a core component of Polaris Project's Training and Technical Assistance Program and it works to improve the systemic response to protect victims of human trafficking in the United States and to strengthen the anti-trafficking field. The NHTRC is designed to serve the mission of TTASP by helping to meet the urgent need for accessible and comprehensive information. Through the generation and dissemination of comprehensive resource materials and the provision of referrals, the NHTRC functions to improve regional and national levels of coordination. Such services offer concise, organized information on a variety of topics useful to the anti-trafficking movement.

To help strengthen the capacity of the field, NHTRC fellows will work alongside NHTRC staff to assist in the operation of the national hotline and to design and create the NHTRC website. Polaris Project's national hotline acts as a resource for potential trafficking victims, service providers, community members, law enforcement agents, medical or legal professionals, researchers, students, and policy-makers.

In addition, NHTRC fellows have the opportunity to engage in the breadth of Polaris Project's work on public policy, victim assistance, client outreach, and grassroots advocacy through the development and distribution of various training materials. As part of this project, NHTRC fellows will conduct research on various issues related to human trafficking at the local, state, and national levels.

All application materials should be sent electronically as attachments to Fellowship@polarisproject.org. This e-mail address is being protected from spam bots, you need JavaScript enabled to view it. Please specify your top three preferred fellowship positions in your email and cover letter. Materials should include a custom cover letter, resume, and three references complete with contact information. You may also include any additional personal statements. Please see the fellowship FAQ page for more information and check the timetable of important dates. Early applications are advised.

Latino Student Fund (LSF)
LSF Tutoring Program

The Latino Student Fund (LSF) seeks volunteers for its Tutoring Program. The LSF Tutoring Program provides free academic support through one-on-one tutoring for Latino students in all areas of academic learning in the Washington, DC metropolitan area. Tutors work with students to reinforce their skills in key subjects such as mathematics, reading and writing comprehension. Students meet with the individual tutors on Saturday mornings at the National Cathedral School from 10:00am-12:00pm. Volunteers and tutors are asked to commit at least six-months to the program, however those who wish to volunteer less may chose to be substitute volunteers.

The Tutoring Program also offers free ESL classes for parents and family members of the students. LSF is looking for volunteers who can work either as tutors one-on-one with students or as volunteer ESL teachers (certified teachers are welcome but not required).

For more information or to sign-up, please contact Sara Shuman at programs@latinostudentfund.org or (202) 244-3438
